The background is a light beige or cream color with numerous black ink splatters and dots of varying sizes scattered across it, particularly concentrated on the left side.

Why I Was Scared of College

And the life lessons that followed

Presentation by Albert Chen, UCLA

June 10, 2011

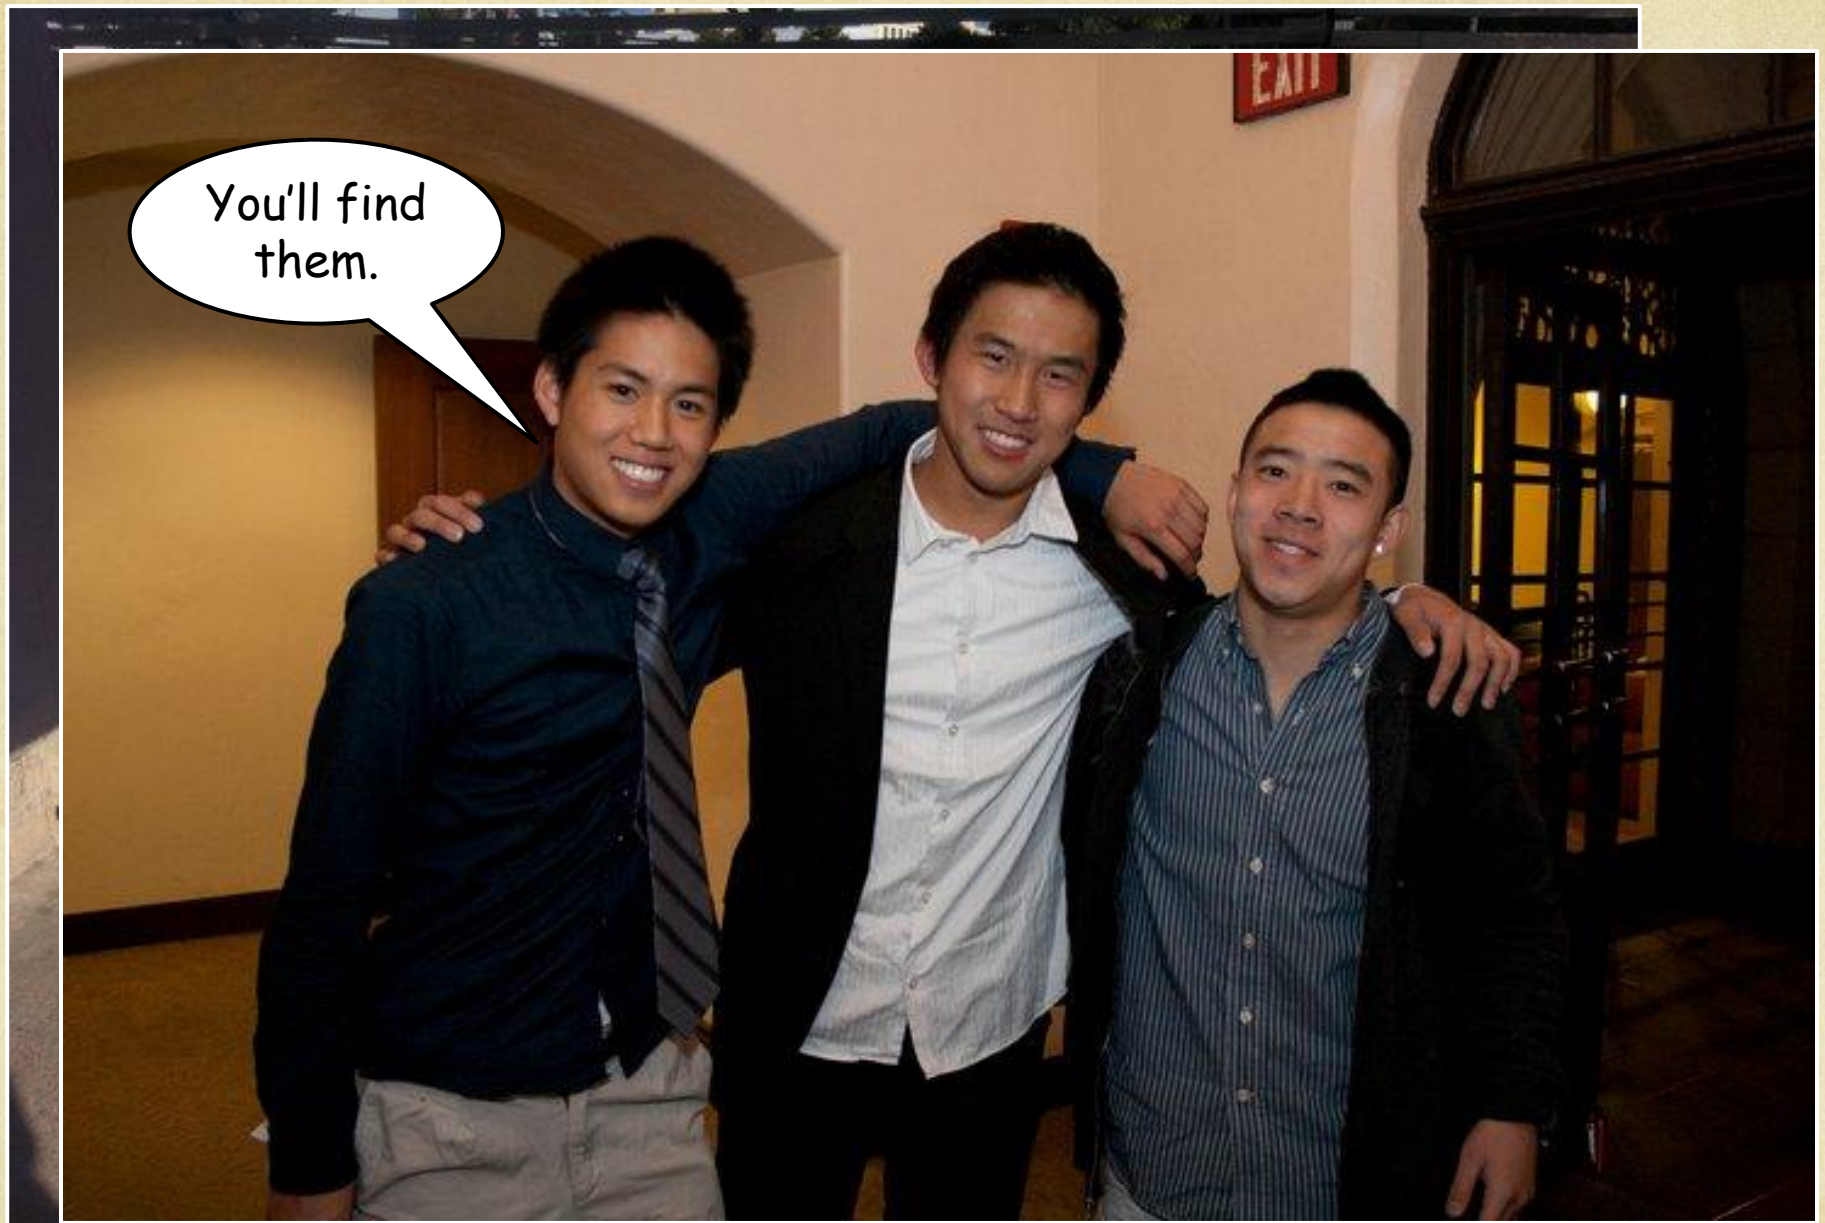

UCLA

- 22.69% Acceptance Rate
- 25,634 Full Time Undergraduate Students
- 93.49% of admits had 4.0 weighted GPA or higher
- 120+ undergraduate majors
- 3301 HSSEAS Undergraduates

“I won't have many friends, if any”

Don't be afraid to change.

“I’ll never leave my room”

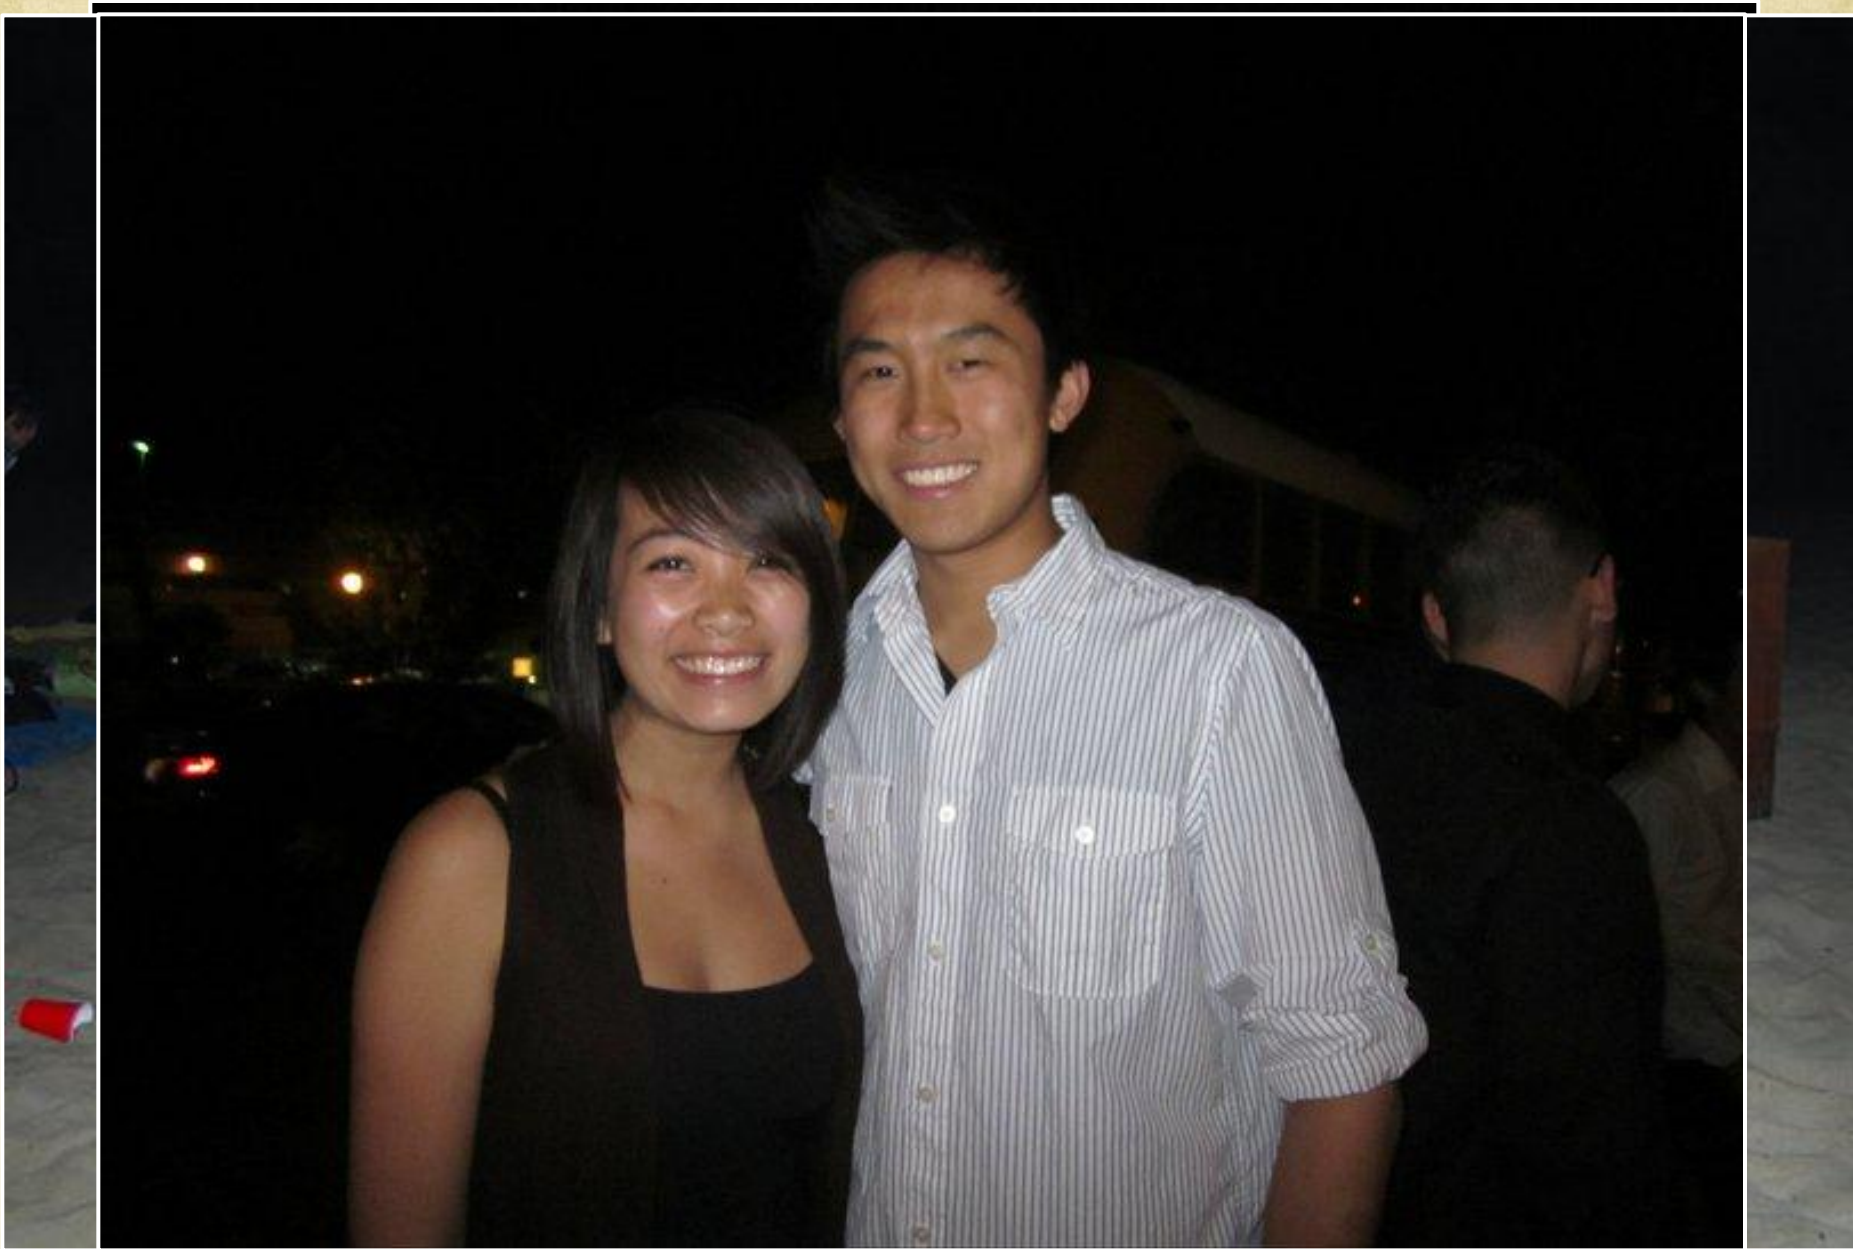

Never be arraid to try new things.

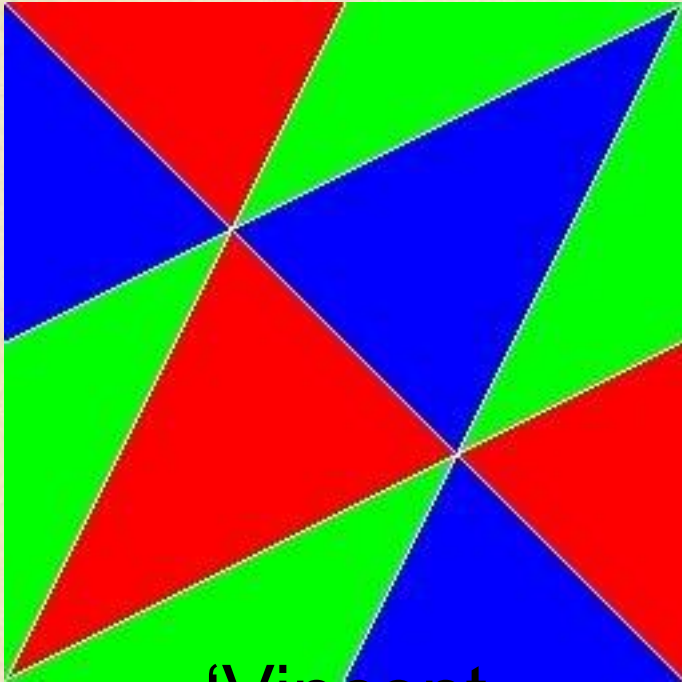

“I’ll feel insignificant in the student body”

Pursue your interests.

“My roommates will suck”

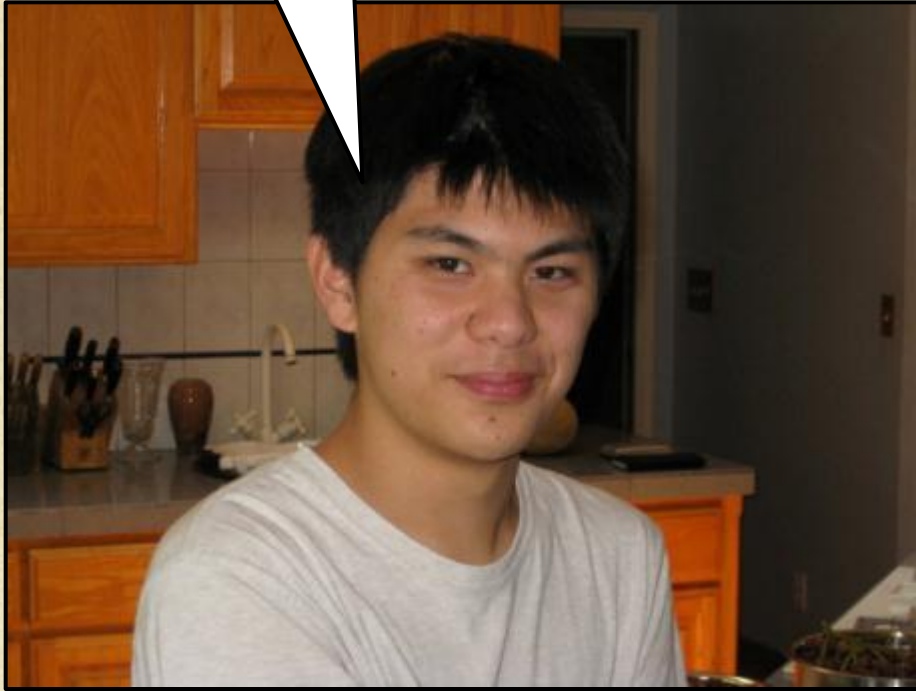

‘Vincent
Tai’

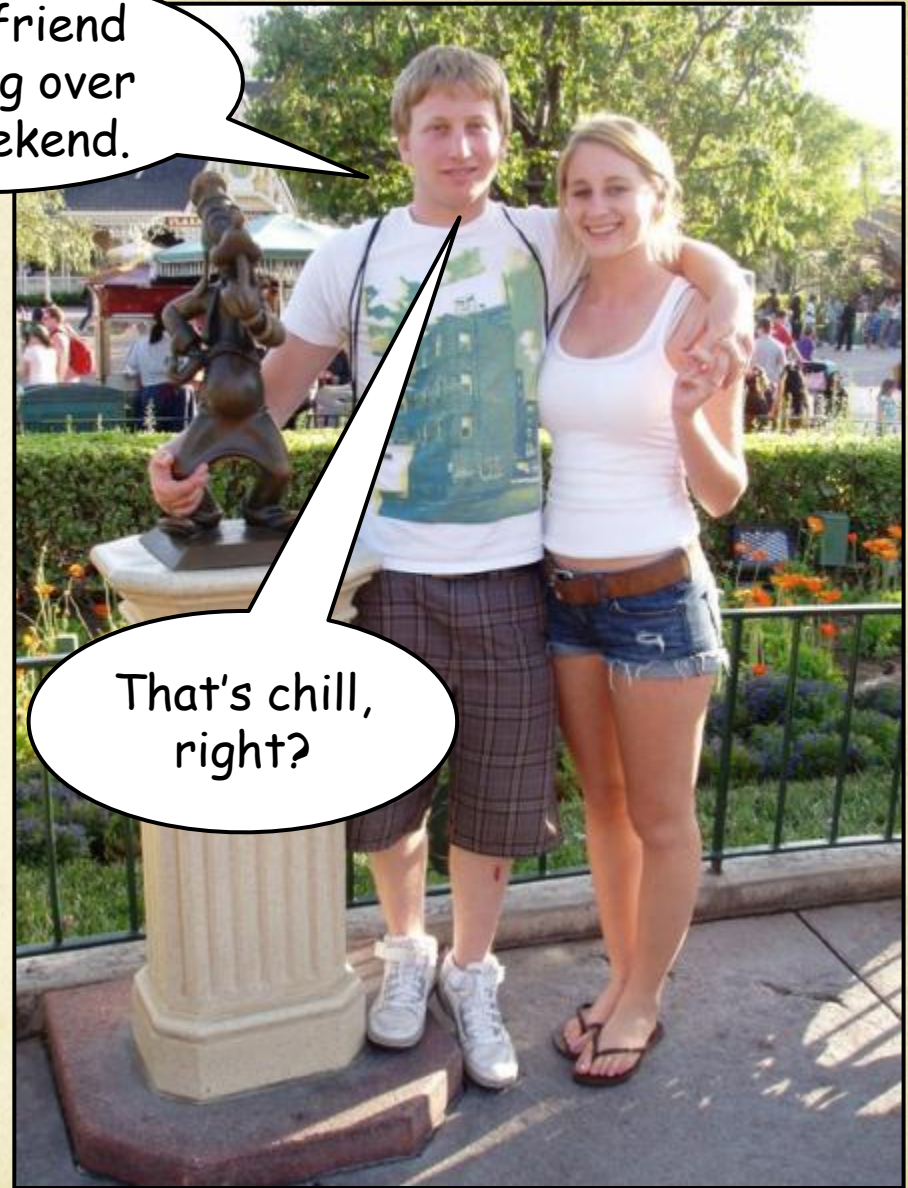

‘Oz Davis’

So...when was this project assigned?

My girlfriend is coming over this weekend.

That's chill,
right?

It builds character.

Review:

- Don't be afraid to change.
- Never be afraid to try new things.
- Pursue your interests
- There are going to be people you dislike, learn to live with them... literally.

One More Thing...

Be Nice to EVERYONE.
Even people you dislike.

... One More Thing...

Bring a suit.